

Chapter 1.5 - INFORMATION MANAGEMENT

1.5.1 Website and Electronic Communications System

1.5.1.1 Website and ECS development

The Operating Company shall operate and maintain:

- (a) a public website; and
- (b) a private, password-protected electronic communications system (ECS) for the Operating Company, the Users, on which the Operating Company shall publish and manage the information referred to in Clauses 1.5.1.2 and 1.5.1.3 and any other information relating to the Terminal which the Operating Company deems appropriate, in its sole discretion. The terms of use of the ECS shall be set out in the ECS Manual.

1.5.1.2 Website

On a website, the Operating Company shall publish information that shall be accessible to the public, including:

- (a) a current copy of the Access Code and Technical Manuals;
- (b) aggregate deliveries at the Redelivery Point by the Terminal for each Gas Day.

1.5.1.3 Electronic Communications System

- (a) To the extent of a User's rights under its Capacity Agreement the Operating Company shall publish specific Terminal related information on the ECS that shall be accessible to such User and the Operating Company only. The content of this information shall be set forth in the ECS Manual.
- (b) The Operating Company shall use any information specific to a User only in the context of the Capacity Agreement and in accordance with Applicable Law. Pursuant to Article 13 of Legislative Decree No. 196 of June 30, 2003, each Party acknowledges that it:
 - (i) has been fully informed by the other Party about the purpose, methods and use of the personal information and all other information exchanged between the Parties; and
 - (ii) is aware of the rights granted pursuant to Applicable Law.
